I. INTRODUCTION

Language and cultures are related to each other; 1) language expresses cultural reality, 2) language embodies cultural realities, 2) language embodies cultural reality, 3) language symbolizes cultural reality. Those relations are the most preserved treasures of local wisdoms in Lampungese society. The ethnic of Lampungese society has an ethic or a norm which becomes the guideline in managing behavior when they communicate and interact between ethnic groups and other ethnic groups, both are those who have family relations, and those who are not relatives

As a multiethnics and multilingual province, Lampung is inhabited by various ethnics broadly divided into two groups; indigenous population (Lampungese ethnic) and immigrant population. Based on their customs, the people of Lampung are distinguished into Saibatin and Pepadun people. Saibatin people live in coastal area, while Pepadun people live alongside the river empties into the Java Sea in the rural areas. Therefore, the symbol of Lampung Province is known as Sang Bumi Ruwa Jurai which means the noble residence of two different origin and different customs group of people.

Both Saibatin and Pepadun have the same character traits as their life philosophy known as Pi-il Pesenggiri. Abung Lampungese people as one of Pepadun ethnics also has Pi-il Pesenggiri as their life philosophy. This Pi-il Pesenggiri reflects the characters of Abung Lampungese society in these features (1) Pi-il Pesenggiri (pride). This Pi-il Pesenggiri is seen in their behavior, they feel they have pride. Every Lampungese acts as if he is a great person, and each relative is greater than other relatives. (2) Juluk Adek (having title). In this pi-il, they show their desire to be respected. Though they are still young, they use nama besar (great name) called Juluk/jejuluk to fulfil their desire. After getting married, they will use nama tua (old name) or courtesy title called adok/adek. (3) Nemui Nyimah (open arms). They love getting praise, this is a part of their pi-il. They love having guests, giving things and sending gifts to certain people, especially to those bounded in kinship, to get praises. Besides, this pi-il reflects that Lampungese People easily forgive others’ mistakes. (4) Nengah Nyapur (socialization). Lampungese people love visiting, making new friends, having chit chat and discussion. (5) Sakai Sambayan (help each other). Lampungese people love helping each other. They also love helping others in preparing and finishing a heavy work, such as building a house, opening forest, and holding a custom party. (Hadikusuma: 1988).

Related to those five pi-il above, the terms of address are closely related to Pi-il Juluk Adek (titled name). In this pi-il, it is crystal clear that Lampungese ethnic love giving courtesy title which used as a term of address. Since the first day of birth, children are already given courtesy titles called Juluk/Jejuluk such as Darmawan, Bangsa Ratu, Abdullah, Sitti, Permai. Juluk is used as long as this person is single/unmarried. When the person gets married, he or she will be addressed Adek/Adok as his or her courtesy title, for example Suntan Pukuk, Pengiran Permai, Sutan Darmawan, Ratu Mulkota.
Language is closely related to culture of speaker’s social life. Kramch (1998) states that there are three connections between language and culture. First, language expresses cultural reality. The language or words expressed by the speakers refer to the experience the speaker has experienced. They express facts, ideas, or events that can be communicated, because they refer to knowledge about the world that other people also understand. In addition, Wijana, I Dewa Putu and Rohmadi (2006) also stated that words can also reflect the speaker’s attitude, beliefs, and views of life.

Second, language embodies cultural reality. In addition to expressing the experience, the community members or social groups creates the experiences through language. They give meaning to create their experiences through language media, choose language media to communicate with others. As the example, when talking through phone, writing letter through e-mail, reading newspaper or interpreting a graphic or chart. The ways people communicate through talking, reading or visual media create understandable meaning, such as speaker tone, accent, conversation style, conversation style, gesture and facial expression. Soepomo (2009) also stated that verbal and nonverbal aspects show language as an incarnation of cultural reality. Third, language symbolizes cultural reality. Language is a sign system that reflects the cultural value of its people. The identity of the speakers can be seen from the language they are used. Language is a symbol of social identity of the community.

Koentjaraningrat (1990) also stated the connection of language and culture by elaborating the elements of cultural universals. The elements of cultural universals are (1) language, (2) knowledge system, (3) social organization, (4) daily equipment and technology system, (5) livelihood system, (6) religious system, and (7) art.

Sapir—Whorf postulated the theory of connection between language and culture of the societies. This theory is known as Sapir—Whorf hypothesis or Linguistic Relativity theory. This theory is quoted by Poedjosodoarmo (1968), Wardhaugh (1986), Trudgil (1995), Lyons (1995), Sibarani (2004) and Wijana and I Dewa Putu (2010). Sapir—Whorf stated that the relation between language and certain society is an integral part of its culture and the lexical distinction made by each language tend to reflect the characteristics of objects, institutions, and activities which culturally important in that society.

Abung Lampungese ethnic society has Lampungese language as the embodiment of the culture of Lampungese people. The linguistic terms used in addressing someone is called tutug/tutur/tutor. Tutug/tutur/tutor is a term of address, the way of addressing or addressing a member of one relative with another relative (Hadikusuma, Arifin, Barusman: 1996). Kiai, niay, apak, bati, abati, bak, ama, akan, Ayah, Apak Hou, Apak Ngah, Om, Abati, Menak, and Kholi are the examples of tutug/tutur/tutor.

Lampungese people has mores and norms in communicating, the way of addressing someone is part of it. Younger people should lower the intonation when speaking to the elder or respected people, between in-law (sabai) both male and female should use the terms of address saya (I) and puskam (sir), between daughter in-law/son in-law (anak matuwa) and mother/father in-law (mintuha, metohou), daughter in-law/son in-law should show respect to the father/mother in law by addressing him/herself as hikam (I) and puskam (sir/madam). On the contrary, father/mother in-law address niki, metei, kuti (You) to his/her daughter/son in-law and it is inappropriate to address niku (you) to his/her daughter/son in-law. Those who can not address his opponent’s speech correctly is considered as less civilized. (Hadikusuna, Arifin, & Barusman: 1996).

The uniquenes, roles, and norms contained in the terms of address in Abung Lampungese Language need to be studied further. As an asset of regional and national culture, it needs attention, protection and development, therefore further research and description are needed descriptively, this research informs the reader about the terms of address in Abung Lampungese Language and the rules and norms of the use of terms of address of Abung Lampungese Language.

II. Method

The researchers use observation and interview in collecting the data in this descriptive research. Observation is used when the researchers observes the utterances produced by the informant when they communicate with others. Interview is used to seeking the information related to the terms of address (the terms of address, factors considered in determining and using terms of address, and the traditional authority of giving and using the terms of address).

The data sources in this research are the spoken utterances as a primary data. These utterances are used by the native speakers of Lampungese language in their daily life communication. To determine that the spoken utterances as the sources of the data, the utterances should meet these criteria: (1) spoken utterances are actual language (parole) as individual system realization; (2) spoken utterances descriptively and empirically fulfill the language; (3) oral utterances of Lampungese language are still used as a means of communication and interaction of native speakers of Lampungese in their daily life. In collecting the data, the researchers determine some criteria of the native speakers of Lampungese; (1) the speaker is old enough and healthy (not senile) (2) the speaker is native speaker of Lampungese language; (3) the speaker has a good language ability; (4) the speaker is an indigenous resident in the target research location. The selected informants consist of two groups; a group of traditional authority leaders and a group of ordinary community. Both groups use Lampungese language. A group of traditional authority leaders is selected based on the assumption that they have insight, know the terms of address, traditional authority in addressing someone, and rules of giving and using the terms of address in Lampungese language. Lampungese community groups are assumed as a real user of terms of address in Lampungese language in their daily communication. The total number of informants interviewed are 100 persons.
The research was conducted in the area where the native speakers of Abung Lampungese people live, Kota Madya Bandar Lampung, Lampung Province. Bandar Lampung is the capital city of Lampung province. It is quite representative for the research since it is a miniature of Lampung. The research took place in five sub-districts; Kedaton, Rajabasa, Kemiling, Teluk Betung Selatan and Sukabumi. The researchers used participant-observation technique and questionnaire as data collection method.

Furthermore, in data analysis technique, componential analysis was used. The data of terms of address collected were compared one to another, and the results of the comparison became the distinctive feature. This semantic distinctive features are the speech components which become the external and social factors that underlie the emergence of terms of address. Those factors also become the distinctive feature of each term of address used by the speaker. Factors are adjusted to determined factors in Lampung community culture. Those factors are gender (male/female), age (older younger, same age (1, 2, 3, 4, etc.), courtesy title (customary institutions, marital status, birth order), family descent (ordinary family, religious family, noble family, or non noble family), level of formalities (intimate or regular), situation of conversation (formal atau informal), the purpose of conversation, intimate, and spiritual.

The Terms of Address in Courtesy Title

The terms of address in courtesy title of Abung Lampungese language are distinguished into courtesy title of terms of address based on traditional authority institution, terms of address based on marital status and terms of address based on birth order.

(1)Courtesy title of terms of address based on traditional authority institution

Abung Lampungese speaker society has traditional authority institution called Kepenyimbangan. The officers in Kepenyimbangan are classified based on level/stratification, role, and responsibilities in the institution. Each group has different terms of address. The table below explains the stratification of terms of address.
Abung Lampungese society follows a traditional authority called Pepadun. There is social stratification which will determine the responsibilities, functions, and roles of given courtesy title adék in Abung Lampungese society. This courtesy title is given to married person who is able to hold special ceremonial called gawei mepadun (the highest ceremonial in Lampungese traditional Authority). This adék courtesy title determines the term address used. This courtesy title applies to both male and female. The terms of address stratification in courtesy title are Sultan (jenjang 1), Tuan (jenjang 2), Pengiran (jenjang 3), Rajo (jenjang 4), Rateu/Batin/Dalem/Minak/Radin (jenjang 5).

Terms of Address based on Marital Status

Based on marital status, terms of address are divided into Jejuluk and Adék. Jejuluk is the traditional authority terms of address to address newly born child. Jejuluk is given at the thanksgiving ceremonial and akikahan once at the same time by cutting the baby’s hair called Marhabanan. In akikahan, the parent will slaughter two lambs for baby boy and a lamb for baby girl. Only the grandparent and the uncles/aunts who have the right to give courtesy title Jejuluk to the baby. The baby will bear the title until he or she gets married. The example of Jejuluk:

Name: Regina Zarifa; Courtesy title Jejuluk: Pengiran Juwita

Adék is the traditional authority term of address based on marital status. This term of address is used to someone who has already married. The title of Adék is announced on the wedding ceremony and given by Penyimbang Adat (traditional authority leader). To give this courtesy title, the parents’ ancestry (father) should be considered. Contoh:

Proper name: Ahmad Effendy Sanusi; title Adék: Sutan Siwo Mego

Terms of Address of Proper Name

Similar to other ethnics, Abung Lampungese people has a traditional authority to give name as an identity. The proper names used in Abung ethnic can also be found in other Lampungese society. Those names are taken from Arabic language, common name or western name. Example: Wan Abas, Muhammad Idris, Komarudin, Evi Saputra, Hesti, Sherly.

Term of Names in Religious/Spiritual Matter

The religious terms of address are commonly used in Abung Lampungese language speakers. Religious terms of address are used to address the spoken opponents who work in spiritual area or those who have been to Mecca as pilgrims. Religious terms of address are Pak Aji, Mak Aji, Nyaik Aji, Pak Ustad, Mrs. Ustadzah, Pak Imam, and Pak Penghulu.

B. The Rules for the Use of Terms of Address of Lampungese Language Speaker

The use of terms of address in Lampungese language is based on its rules. Those rules includes gender, origin of the family environment, origin of heredity, birth order, courtesy title, age status, religious title, situation of conversation, and purpose of using terms of address factors. The following is a description of each of the rules:

a) The gender factor of the speech actor will determine the use of the terms of address. The terms of address to address male may be different with female. For example, the only term used to address the eldest male is Kanjeng, while the terms of address used to address the eldest sister are Kanjeng, Gusti, or Ratu.

b) The origin of the family environment must be considered by the speech participants. The noble family environment will use different term sof address compared to ordinary or non noble family; asal lingkungan keluarga Penyimbang family will use different terms of address compared to non Penyimbang (the traditional authority leader) family, the origin of the family who has been to Mecca as pilgrims will be different compared to the family who has not been to Mecca as pilgrims, etc.

c) In determining the terms of address in Lampungese traditional authority, the origin of descent should be carefully noticed. The speakers from noble class Penyimbang Adat will use different terms of address to ordinary descent people. The origin of parents will also determine the usage of terms of address. For example, the siblings from father’s line will be called Lebew/Lebu, while the siblings from mother’s line will be called Batangan.

d) The birth order will determine the terms of address used, role, right, obligation and responsibilities to the one who use that term of address. The terms of address used for the first child will be different to the terms of address used for the second child, etc. The eldest boy will be addressed Kanjeng. Kanjeng will play a role as the replacement/representative of father in deciding things or making decision in the family when the father is absent. Besides, he has the right to stay in his parents house forever and get all of the inheritance of the parents. Kanjeng must protect and help his younger siblings both in household and his siblings’ needs. Kanjeng are responsible of his siblings’ welfare, harmony and survival.

e) In using the terms of address, the courtesy title determines the status, role, right, and responsibilities possessed by the person concerned. The courtesy title from marital status (married or not) will have different rules in its use. The courtesy title for unmarried/person is called Juluk/Jejuluk, while the title for married person is called Adék/Adok. There is another courtesy titles of traditional authority institution which has different stages, these stages will determine the terms of address.

f) Age will determine the terms of address. Older people will have different terms of address from younger or of the same age people.

g) Religious title must be considered since it is used to respect, it also distinguishes one’s status in the conversation and it gives roles to the speech actor. Those who have been to Mecca as pilgrims are highly respected, they are called jaji to show the respect. Those who work in religious sector (Qur’an teacher, imam in mosque, and chief) will be addressed with certain terms of address to distinguish them from others. It also shows the respect.

h) In using the terms of address, the situation of the conversation should be considered. In formal situation, especially in traditional ceremony, the use of terms of address in courtesy title, both Adék/adok from marital status and Adék/adok from institution of traditional authority, must be prioritized. While in informal situation, the term of address is adjusted to the habits occurred in the family or the society concerned.

i) The function or the purpose of the using of terms of address must be taken into account. The term of address used to respect someone is different from the term of address used to express love, etc.
